BIO

Born in Albacete (Spain) in 1966, Julián Valcárcel obtained a Law degree at Universidad Complutense in 1991 and has worked as a lawyer in Madrid since 1994. His love of theatre and the performing arts dates back to his teen years spent in Ireland, Spain and the United States.

In 2014 after being cast in a very popular television commercial in Spain, he began a second career in the arts, playing supporting roles in several Spanish feature films and series. Julián has also been a constant presence on the Madrid stage, performing leading characters in many theater productions. He's fluent in Spanish and English.

Most recently he has portrayed the butcher father of a bullied teen in Carlota Pereda's Piggy (2022) and a public defender in Alberto Rodríguez's Prison 77 (2022).
