BIO

As a director he has directed short films such as the multi-award winning "El Figurante", starring Manuel Manquiña and Leonor Watling, among others; or "Los sueños de Ulma". A "trompe l'oeil" film presented at the 60th edition of the San Sebastian Festival, as a tribute to the festival itself, sponsored by Coca Cola Light.

He has directed music videos for groups such as Marlango, Rosendo, MClan, El Canto del Loco, La Oreja de Van Gogh, Celtas Cortos, Carlos Baute, or Manuel Carrasco.

In the more than 20 years he has been working in advertising he has shot for brands such as BMW, Mc.Donald's or MAPFRE among many, winning awards such as the Grand Global at the New York Festival, Silver at the Eurobest in London, and FIAP Gold.

Rómulo was nominated as best new director at the annual advertising awards in Spain, and as best young director at the Young Director's Festival in Cannes.

As a screenwriter he adapted, together with Víctor García León, the award-winning play by Juan Mayorga "El chico de la última fila" (National Theater Award in 2007). The script was selected by the SUNDANCE FILM INSTITUTE to participate in the Screen Writers Lab.

In television fiction he has directed the two seasons of the series "By Ana Milán", and co-directed the six episodes of the series "Las noches de Tefía" with its creator, Miguel del Arco.
